Innovative & Agile – Contact Management v3.0

Reference companies and people like never before!

Bloomfield, NJ (April 21, 2008) – Surround Technologies announced today the release of Version 3.0 of Envision Contact Management. As a complete system or an ultimate plug in, Envision Contact Management provides all the contact management capabilities of expensive ERP systems.

A clear breakthrough in delivering advanced agile software through Surround's own innovative software architecture, Contact Management version 3.0 now allows you to create, manage, and access companies and people like never before.

Is the contact information available in your current system too limiting or even non-existent? Are you building a new system?

ENVISION THIS

Surround has that part of your system already built, tested, and ready to go. Contact Management is designed to be integrated seamlessly as a natural extension to your own systems. Plug it in and save the development time and cost of rebuilding the functionality already provided. It's assured productivity, for both your programmers and your end users! It's software at the speed of business.

Also, built-in services and interfaces are provided out-of-the-box through an innovative service oriented architecture, SOA, allowing you to extend and integrate with any system in your company as well as outside business partners. Not just the information either. Other systems can even consume the actual user interface.

Contact Management? Check. Now you can move on to your next set of business requirements.

USE, EXTEND, INTEGRATE, AND MORE

Contact Management provides both Windows as well as Windows on the Web, Surround's own innovative internet SaaS technology, User Experiences. For server-side, it can be deployed on System i, Windows, Unix, and Linux.
